

DriveTime

Mesa, AZ

"(Having) a bigger space means we have the capacity to add more people. We're looking forward to more than doubling our workforce and contributing to the growing economy in Mesa."

- Jon Ehlinger, Spokesperson, DriveTime

When DriveTime, a leading used car dealership and finance company for people with less-than-perfect credit, announced plans to move its loan services and operations center from Gilbert, Arizona to a larger facility in Mesa, Arizona, they partnered with The Evolve Furniture Group to design their new space.

The company planned to hire 400 new employees over the next three years and needed to design a space to provide their growing team with an effective and productive work environment where they could deliver the top-quality customer service for which DriveTime is known.

Freestanding offices installed throughout the space provided semi-private areas where meetings could be conducted. The Evolve panel system was used to construct the walls but the office ceiling was kept open to leverage the acoustics of the building. ▶ design details

- 600 Semi-private Workstations, featuring fabric acoustic and fully-glazed tempered glass panels, created in a zig zag formation
- 20 Freestanding Offices on the office floor that provided semi-private areas to meet
- 1 Reception Station designed to complement the look of the Workstations and Freestanding Offices

design impact

The redesigned space allowed DriveTime to maximize their new floorspace and accommodate the additional 400 new employees the company planned to hire after the move. The larger office space has since helped DriveTime's growth and expansion efforts by providing a central office to support the 15 new dealerships that open annually around the country.
